

Press Release: Triangle Insights Group Opens RTP Office

Research Triangle Park, NC: April 8, 2015

Premier life sciences consulting firm serves global clients from headquarters in Research Triangle Park

Triangle Insights Group, a strategy consulting firm serving leaders across the life sciences industry, announced today that it has opened a new headquarters office in the American Tobacco Campus in Durham, North Carolina.

The new 6,300 square foot office will support the increased space needs for the rapidly growing company. The firm, which advises clients on strategic commercialization, portfolio design, licensing diligence, and clinical development decisions, anticipates accommodating an increase in staff to 30-35 over the next two years.

Panoramic windows extending along the entire western wall of the office provide a magnificent view of the first base line of the Durham Athletic Park. Inside, the company has chosen an open design with multiple settings for formal and informal team gatherings. “By adopting an open-space design, the new office will encourage even greater collaboration by our staff,” said Gautam Aggarwal, one of Triangle Insights’ four founding partners.

From the new office, Triangle Insights will provide services to clients who develop and commercialize therapeutics, diagnostics, and medical devices. “We are very pleased about the move to the American Tobacco Campus” said Chris Apolito, another founding partner. “There is a high energy in this neighborhood that we feel matches well with the creative spirit of our team.”
